WOMAN KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING

Carriage Struck on Way Home From Church—Woman Confused by Headlight of Trolley Car, Drove on Railroad Track in Front of Train.

Johanna Mannel, 42 years old, of Colmar, was instantly killed and John Kooker, 45 years old, of the same place, was probably fatally injured when a carriage in which they were returning to their homes from the Lansdale Methodist church was struck by the Doylestown train shortly after 9 o'clock Sunday night.

The accident occurred at the Main street crossing and was witnessed by a large number of people who were standing on the platform. Miss Mannel, who was driving the horse, evidently became confused by the headlight of an approaching Lehigh Valley Traction Company trolley car and drove directly into the path of the approaching train, which was gradually closing to a stop.

The train crashed into the carriage, instantly killing the woman, grinding the carriage to pieces and hurrying the two occupants 30 feet. The crowd of people on the station platform hurried to their assistance and carried them to the waiting room.

Drs. J. V. Bauman and H. O. Williams, of Lansdale, were summoned and they declared the woman had been instantly killed and that Kooker received injuries that would result in his death. They said that his back was broken and he also sustained severe internal injuries. The injured man was hurried to the Jewish Hospital, Philadelphia.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Wissahickon Valley Poultry and Pigeon association was held Thursday evening in Springfield township building and the election of officers resulted as follows: President, Joseph Elias; first vice president, Walter Stouman; second vice president, J. M. Kneiss; treasurer, J. Nelson Young; secretary, S. Agers; executive committee, Charles Knapp, W. W. Deissler, J. B. Kneiss, Thomas Scott and William J. Byrher. The report of the committee on the last show of the association was a most gratifying one, as the receipts exceeded the expenses by $10.64.

COMMISSIONERS' MEETING.

Special Election to Vote Upon Increase of Debt $164,000 Proposed—Other Business.

At the meeting of the township commissioners on Thursday evening, Vice President William P. Albrecht was in the chair and Commissioners John D. Mahoney and David F. Benninghoff were present. Mr. Albrecht was unable to be in attendance, as was Mr. Hallock, who is confined to his home with a broken bone.

The township treasurer reported a balance on hand of $1911.27, and the various committees made their reports.

The solicitor reported progress in the matter of securing the title of the property owners along the York road from Noble station to Edge Hill, in the matter of putting down sidewalks. J. B. Stevenson, Jr., was present and urged upon the commissioners the great necessity of carrying this work forward at an early opportunity as possible, reciting the great danger to pedestrians who have to use the pike.

Solicitor Ambler reported that he had written William T. B. Roberts in reference to Geneva avenue, but had not yet received his reply.

Mr. Albrecht, who was a committee to confer with the water company in reference to some charges, etc., reported that the contract between the commissioners and the water company had yet five years to run and recommended that the bills that had been under dispute be paid.

Mr. Benninghoff reported that he had gone over the matter of placing three additional lights at a dark point on Church road in the lower end of the township and recommended that the lights be placed at the points agreed upon.

Mr. Mahoney, who has the matter of the damages to the water works at Noble, reported progress.

GRANGERS' PROTEST GIVEN HEED

Produce From City Almshouse Farms Not to Be Sold in Competition With Free Farm Products—Arrangements Being Made for Institute.

Assurance has been given the members of Philadelphia Grange, No. 645, C. B. Bushman, Fremont Bowman, manager of the city farms, connected with Byberry branch of the Philadelphia Hospital, that no more of the products of the farm, cultivated by pauper labor, will be sold in open market in competition with the products of the farmers of the extreme northeastern section, whose truck finds ready sale in the markets of the city but that the vegetables and truck raised there would be used only in the various institutions under the control of the city authorities. This is the outcome of a protest made recently against the practice of hauling the vegetables raised on the Byberry farms owned by the city to markets.

The Philadelphia Grange are planning to hold a farmers' institute in St. Luke's hall, Bustleton, on Thursday and Friday, February 22 and 23. An excellent program of topics of interest to the farmer and the discussion of the same will be arranged. Musical selections will follow the discussions. The sessions will begin at 10 o'clock in the morning and continue all day and evening.

$5000 DEMAND FOR BURN BUILDINGS

Blackmailer Threatens John Fenton Near Fox Chase—Police Seeking Clues in Philadelphia.

The police of Abington township and Philadelphia are trying to find a foreigner who is suspected of having sent a "Black Mail" letter to John Fenton, owner of Fenton Farms, Walnut Hill, near Fox Chase, demanding $5,000 to save the destruction of his buildings by fire. The letter was received through the mails January 31, but the police have worked so quietly that the case has not been given publicity.

The letter was stamped in the Southwark station, Philadelphia. The name and address were printed neatly on the envelope. The author advised Fenton to place $5,000 at a certain point near a water tank along the Newtown railroad, a half-mile from the farm.

Failure to comply with the request was to have been followed by the burning of the house and barns on the farm. The letter was not signed, but the bottom of the paper.

The Fenton family became alarmed and the letter was given to Chief Leary. Policemen were immediately detailed to guard the farmhouses and a guard was stationed a few feet from the house, but no one disturbed it.

A foreigner, who had worked on the place is suspected.

Officer Halliwell, of the Cheltenham police, put the animal out of its misery by shooting it and Hobensack's team took away the carcass.

TEACHER AT ORANGE HOME GOES CRAZY

John Bilgen Gets Looney Spell and Creates Excitement—He is Locked up for Disturbing Worship and Taking Horse.

John Bilgen, a teacher at the Orange Home, Hatboro, succeeded in getting himself into a peck of trouble this week.

Bilgen came to the home about two months ago as a teacher. His address being 1031 Lawrence street, Philadelphia. His age is 26 years and he is married.

Recently Superintendent Percy at the home noticed that Bilgen seemed to be erratic and on Wednesday the pupils made a disturbance by the use of loud and unseemly language. Then he left the home and going to the stable took out one of the horses, which he mounted and started towards Hatboro.

Superintendent Percy notified Constable Palmer and that official found Bilgen on Byberry road, coming towards Hatboro. He was leading the horse, having slipped from his back, when the horse stumbled.

Bilgen was placed in the lock-up for safe keeping as he appeared to be of unsound mind. He was given a hearing on Thursday before Squire Hockman. He talked at random about various things and it was thought best to send him to Norristown for examination as to his sanity.

The Squire held him in default of $200 bail for disturbing religious worship and also committed him on the nominal charge of horse stealing.

Those who heard Bilgen talk, say he appeared to be sane, but he told various stories about his past career. Constable Palmer took Bilgen to Norristown jail on Thursday afternoon.

JENKINTOWN.

"CRIPPLE" HAD GOOD ARMS.

James Harvey, of Philadelphia, was given forty days in jail for vagrancy and held for court at the County Jail of Jenkintown, to await trial on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses.

Harvey is accused of representing himself as a cripple whose arm was to be amputated. The arm was found in a sling and Harvey told a tale of suffering and distress at Jenkintown.

His language insulted some of the women purchasers, and he was arrested. Mrs. William Harrington, of Church street, during the past week.

Mrs. W. A. Beck of Cherry street, has been confined to her bed during the last week, suffering from bronchitis, which she sustained from a fall on the ice.

FRIENDS ISSUED WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE

Byberry Association Listens to Speakers, Most of Whom Favor Allowing Women the Privilege of Voting—Some of the Views Advanced.

The last meeting of Byberry Friends' Association, held at meeting house on the fourth of the month, discussed suffrage for women in a lively and interested manner. Ellen H. E. Price, of Philadelphia, was the main speaker, being president of Pennsylvania Suffrage Association, and local members gave papers and made pertinent remarks.

William P. Bonner presided and Elizabeth P. Bonner acted as secretary. Mary Wood gave the opening Scripture reading, and in the absence of any matter of business, the main topic of the afternoon was entered upon.

Ellen Price began by making a slight plea for suffrage by saying women should have a share in government since they have its punishment. She then went on to state the family on an equal basis, why not in a wider scope. Then, waxing more earnest she declared she could not see how one would be a consistent Friend and not be a suffragist.

She traced the beginning of the organized suffrage movement from Seneca Falls, N. Y., in 1848, until now when 32 states have partial suffrage for women and six have full suffrage. Wyoming in 1893 took this step and $70 bill was introduced to repeal women suffrage, which did not carry, and since then no such attempt has been made. In 1890 when it was up for statehood and their legislature was informed the plank must be dropped.

She spoke of the struggle in Washington, "we'll stay a territory 100 years rather than give up women suffrage." The speaker read the preamble of the 1911, and she was more women of California than all the other suffrage states put together.

The speaker testified in favor of suffrage from men in authority where it is a fact, and testifying also to the benefit it would bring to the question as well, the dry territory increasing under that regime.

She did not claim the millennium would come when women voted, but she felt the influence would be better. She spoke of the average of Pennsylvania recently, of the hearing at Harrisburg last winter, and the giving of the matter to the State Commission, which will give a hearing in Philadelphia on March 22nd.

She closed by saying she believed in suffrage, let us get to work, it is not a woman's cause alone, but one for the uplift of the race. A man's government purely is not right, it needs both in government. Interest of both in politics will make him happier.

The president queried regarding the efforts made by the women of Philadelphia, and the speaker said that if married love could not stand it was not the right kind of marriage. Elizabeth H. Bonner questioned as to why women wanted the vote. The answer was Yankee "why men want it."

The answer to this was for power, for money, etc. Then if it gave power, why was not women entitled to it also? Why subserf?

John Wood felt woman's main place was in the home and the speaker quoted anti-suffragists who are so convinced woman's place is home that they are willing to travel far and wide to prove she should be home!

Mrs. Peacock, of Torresdale, spoke briefly but very effectively in favor of votes for women, quoting the opinion and observations of Mrs. Grenfell, superintendent of schools in Colorado.

Rachel Knight, of Somerton, gave a paper which were compared New York and Colorado an "anti" and suffrage state, and the effect on wages, both for men and women was an increase in Colorado, where political affiliations differed, and the speaker said that if married love could not stand it was not the right kind of marriage.

Elizabeth Richardson and Arabella Carter also took part in the discussion, both affirmatively, and the meeting closed, perhaps with not so many anti-converts, but with food for thought for those who were unable to be present, and a strengthening of forces where the inclination had been toward suffrage.

After the meeting closed the topic was still discussed by groups who expressed their opinion more freely out than in "meeting," and the balance was in favor of "votes for women."

The next session on March 3rd will be given to the child question, the speaker to be Florence Conrad Grison.

A FORCIBLE ARGUMENT.

Robert Townsend and Montclair Collins, two colored men of Edge Hill, had a dispute as to the ownership of a pair of gloves. Townsend struck Collins in the eye with his fist and Collins pulled forth a black-jack and struck Townsend on the cheek, cutting him in the eye. Both were arrested by Officer Halliwell and at the hearing on Wednesday before Squire Combs, the case was discharged on paying the costs.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT AGAINST WARMINSTER

Henry B. Evans Asks $10,000 for Injuries Received in an Accident in March, 1910—Wagon Slipped into Ditch Due to Bad Road, He Claims.

—He Was Lamed for Life.

Henry B. Evans, of Willow Grove, formerly of Ivyland, has brought suit against the township of Warminster to recover $10,000 for injuries received in an accident through his wagon slipping and throwing him out.

The accident happened March 13, 1910, on the Bristol road just outside of Ivyland, and Mr. Evans claims it was due to the bad condition of the roadway. The wagon slipped into a deep ditch and in the accident he was injured and lamed.

At the time of the accident Evans carried on the Breadyville store. He claims that he was obliged to sell out and retire from business because of his injuries.

The outcome of the suit will be watched with interest by township authorities everywhere.

J. F. Reed retained by the plaintiff and Swartley and Bunting the township.

PAINTER DROPPED DEAD.

Was at Work in Dreshertown Wagon Shops.

Harry Neal, aged about 45, who lived at Jarrettstown and worked at the McCormick wheelwright shop at Dreshertown, fell dead February 8, at the noon hour. Death evidently was due to heart trouble.

The man had been employed at that place for some time and had been a good worker, being a carriage painter by trade. He was just putting the finishing touches on a vehicle when his employer saw him collapse, and without a word, fall. When picked up he was dead.

The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of Jesse Davis, in Ambler. The remains were viewed by the coroner, who gave a verdict of death due to heart failure. The deceased is said to have been married. The funeral was held Sunday from Ambler with interment at Rose Hill cemetery.

CARBOLIC ACID CAUSED DEATH.

The remains of Mrs. William E. Laner, who committed suicide Thursday night of last week at her home near Cut-off railroad, as told in our last issue, were interred in Hattboro Baptist cemetery on Tuesday afternoon. Private funeral services were held at 1 o'clock from the residence of James Palmer, Doylestown pike and the Trenton Cut-off railroad.

Coroner Neville, of Norristown, investigated the case and viewed the remains on Friday. He was informed that the woman had several times threatened to commit suicide, and on two occasions had actually tried it. Thursday, she told a girl she was killing herself, that that would be the last time she would do so, and that she was going to kill herself. The girl paid no attention to her threats. The coroner found the bottle of carbolic acid, a certificate of death due to suicide from carbolic acid poisoning.

W. C. T. U. MEETING.

The Hattboro branch of the W. C. T. U. met in the Sunday school room of the Methodist church on Thursday, February 15th, at 2:45 p. m. President Elizabeth H. Colby, and Mrs. J. P. Shook.

Mrs. J. P. Shook was appointed to have a paper at the next meeting, March 21st, 1912. Subject to be announced.

OUTWITTING CUNNING RATS.

Warren W. Corson, a Civil war veteran of Hattboro, who has been greatly bothered by cunning rats, has found a way to catch them after many trials. He set out traps baited with corn meal, and the rats of the stable and the rats declined to enter. Then he thought of a plan of placing traps on a contrivance which would be above the floor. The rats found it rather difficult to get to the top of the box, and once there entered the trap which evidently caught them. On Monday Mr. Corson caught three rats, on Wednesday three more rats, and on Friday morning he found the trap swarming with eight rats. He used corn-meal for bait.

OBITUARY

HIRAM RAAB.

Hiram Raab died on Thursday at his home in Warminster township, near Ivyland. He had been partially paralyzed for more than a score of years so that he was unable to walk. In order to get about on his farm he had constructed a special low-bodied cart on which he was accustomed to travel about, while lying down. With this peculiar rig he was able to reach all parts of his farm and sometimes ventured as far as Ivyland. For many years he has been confined to his house. He is survived by his wife and four children. Before moving to Warminster he resided for many years on York road, above Willow Grove, on the farm now owned by Mr. Shalmerdon. The funeral will be held from his late residence on Monday at 11 a. m. interment at Hattboro cemetery.

MRS. JOHN M. WALTON.

Mrs. John M. Walton died on Thursday at her residence in Ivyland in her 60th year. She had long been suffering and confined to her home. The funeral will be held on Sunday, with interment at Wrightstown.

MRS. ELIZABETH MINGIN.

Mrs. Elizabeth Mingin, widow of Charles S. Mingin, Branchtown, Philadelphia, having been injured received in falling down stairs at her home, 4139 N. Broad street, on Tuesday evening, having lived twenty-four hours without receiving consciousness.

She was the daughter of Harry Yerkes. She had been a consistent Christian, having joined the Miletown Methodist church when quite a young girl and remained there until her death. She had started the Fern Rock M. E. church. Her husband, the late Charles S. Mingin, was the proprietor of the general store at Branchtown (now conducted by George W. Wilson) for nearly twenty years. She was noted for her lovable disposition and the life of sunshine strewn over the path of all those who were fortunate enough to be acquainted with her. She is survived by her two daughters, Mrs. Emma L. Armstrong and Miss Carrie Mingin. Her funeral was held in the Fern Rock church, with the Rev. J. C. Chew, E. Hahn, J. Kerslake and W. Dawah, officiating.

SARAH WALTON SHOEMAKER.

Mrs. Sarah Walton Shoemaker, a devoted wife and mother, died in the State, died at her home, 213 Vine street, Philadelphia, last Tuesday, at the age of eighty-eight years.

She was the great-granddaughter of Jeremiah Walton, one of the four brothers of the late John Walton, of Hattboro, and settled on the banks of Poquessing creek in 1675, giving the name Hattboro to the place.

Mrs. Shoemaker is survived by four daughters and a son. Her husband was a descendant of an old family, his ancestors having settled in Germantown in 1683. Both families were identified with the Society of Friends.

JOHN BOOTH.

CHARLES B. SMITH.

On Sunday last, Charles Bradley Smith died, aged 74 years. The funeral services were held on Thursday, from his late residence, 817 Euclid avenue, Ambler. The interment was made at Rosedale, Orange, N. J.

Use a Stand For Pile.

Never get a pile on a flat surface when removing from the oven. Use a slatiron stand or wire teapot stand. This prevents steamed and soaked varieties from rising and bursting. Three or four plates placed so that the steam meet in one point in the center will let the air circulate under when one has not the stand.

Clean the Irons.

When heating flatirons it is a good plan to lift and wipe them after being heated for a few seconds, as the moisture caused by the first heating causes them to become rusty if they are left until they are thoroughly heated. This will also save the labor of cleaning them when ironing.

On the thirty-sixth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. George Schaub, of Hattboro, their daughter, Kathryn, was married to Harry Roberts, of Line Lexington.

Note in our advertising columns the card of John Kienle of 2nd and Dock streets, Philadelphia, who handles all varieties of seed potatoes. He is well known to our readers and potato growers of this section.

The choir of the M. E. church sang at the services held at the Masonic Home, Broad and Ontario streets, Philadelphia, on Wednesday evening.

Some one set fire to a frame shed in the rear of Mr. Kimes' property, No. 516 Jefferson avenue, on Friday afternoon. The fire was put out, but it had not been that the fire was discovered in time, there is no doubt it would have been a serious loss of all the buildings around there.

Clean Shelf Papers.

The next time you are cleaning the pantry shelves, fold at least three newspapers the longest way of the full sheets. Place them on the shelf with the fold in front and stick it snugly. The next time you want a clean paper slip the edge of a knife along the fold of the outer sheet and remove the soiled top. The remaining sheets will be left intact for future use, and much time and labor will be saved to the housewife.

Chocolate Jumbles.

One-half pound of chocolate, one pint of molasses, one cup of sugar, one cup of butter, one teaspoon clove, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon allspice, two teaspoons nutmeg, one egg, water, three eggs, four enough to roll without sticking.

Cider Apple Sauce.

Boil down one bushel of newly dried apples, pared and quartered if sour, allow one-fourth their weight in sugar, or use late sweet apples, pared and quartered, very little sugar. Cook slowly, and be careful not to break the fruit in straining.

Neighborhood dogs killed 22 ducks on the premises of C. B. Rockhill and Edward Kulp, at Edison, and maimed many others.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express sincerest thanks and appreciation to our many friends and neighbors for the kindness shown, and to pastor and choir for services, at the death and funeral of our beloved son.

Emil Spies, Wife and Family, Willow Grove, Pa.

SMALL HOUSE BURNED

Frank Boyle's Residence and Contents Destroyed.

The house owned by Edward Rittenhouse and occupied by Frank Boyle, at Wylie's Corner, near Lantana, was burned about noon on Saturday. The building was a total loss, as were most of the household goods. The Lantana Fire company responded promptly, but by the time the boys arrived on the ground the flames had been destroyed. The fire started in a defective fuse. Some household goods on the first floor were saved, the rest of the contents being burned. It was a frame structure, and the loss is estimated at about $1000.

An observance of Missionary day in Salem Reformed church, Doylestown, netted $100 toward the money the church must pay for building homes for missionaries in foreign countries.

Two memorial windows, valued at $500 will be placed in the Doylestown Baptist church, one presented by Mrs. Jennie Lively, of Woodbury, N. J., and the other the gift of Mrs. Martha Livingston, of Jacksonville, N. J.

MOORE S. PAXSON DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS.

Moore Paxson, aged about 55 years, died on Saturday night at his home on the Mill road, near Willow Grove, after being ill for a few weeks.

Mr. Paxson was born in Montgomery county and raised there but later went to Chicago where he conducted a livery stable. Returning East he farmed for about two years near Forest Grove, on the Anderson farm. About three years ago he moved to Willow Grove, where he also farmed until the time of his last illness. Mr. Paxson married a daughter of Henry Carl Kuehn, who died a short time ago at Willow Grove. Mrs. Paxson, one daughter, Hattie, who lives at home, a son who lives in the West, a brother, Joseph, Paxson, who is connected with the State Highway Department, and a sister, Hattie, who lives at Abington, survive him.

The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon and was very largely attended. Interment was made in Haboro cemetery. Rev. J. B. Krawson, of Forest Grove, conducted the services. The bearers were William Morgan, P. P. Gheen, Jesse Winder, Samuel Ramsey, William White and George Brady.

Raymond Baldt entertained the Monarch minstrels at his home, Friday evening, February 9th. A very pleasant evening was spent by all the boys.

The fire company had a run on Monday when they were called to a fire in the home of John Blumert, dairy man on the estate of W. W. Frazier, east of Willow Grove, where for a time threatened to destroy the building. The flames had their origin in a defective fuse. The loss was small, owing to the good work of our fire ladders and the neighbors.

A large sale of personal property belonging to Henry A. Earnest, on the Shiplock road, near Fort Side Inn, will be sold on Wednesday next, with Henry C. Hiddle as agent.

Daniel Manning will hold a large lot of personal property on the Wharfton farm, better known as the "Switch Works Farm," situated on the Jenkins road, near Willow Grove, on Washington's birthday, Thursday next.

Eugene A. Perry, a North Wales real estate broker, was granted a divorce at Norristown, from his wife, Eleanor Perry, on the grounds of desertion, on July 19, 1909. The couple were married in 1885, in Beaver Dam, Wisconsin. In 1905 they moved to Worcester township, this county.

"SPIRIT" HUMOROUS SECTION

NOT PARTICULAR

The Helping Hand. The Married Man—I tell you, it's when a man falls into misfortune that he appreciates a woman. The Single Man—You bet! It must be a handy thing sometimes to put all your property in your wife's name.—Puck.

HARD LUCK. Jack—When I proposed to Miss Billings she shook her head, but that wasn't the worst of it. Tom—Indeed? Jack—Her old man shook his fist and raised his foot.

The Small Boy. He looks by food Emotions stirred. He'll watch pa carve That turkey-bird.

Just to Make Sure. "How shall I express my sentiments toward you?" said the young man, tenderly. "On paper, please," said the girl. "Then there can be no chance of your wriggling out of it."—THE BITE.

Danger. "Is your husband doing anything for his health?" "Yes, he is going out every day to get plenty of cocaine." "You had better tell him to be careful of those drugs."

Contrariwise. "Molly has been a very strenuous young fellow for a husband, hasn't she?" "Well, now, from the way he coaxes and humors her I should call him rather a Molly coddler."

What are you going to give at the preacher's donation party, Mandy? "Lands ake! Nuthin'. Why, I give the preacher a real store necktie that cost 10 cents at his donation party only 30 years ago!"

NOT QUITE

Her Mother (Indignantly)—Edith, didn't that young man have his arm around you last night in the hall? The Daughter—No, mother. Her Mother (severely)—Are you sure? The Daughter—Well—er—er—not entirely around.

TRAITS OF THE FINANCIER

First Martin—I think that American who came here on an airship blew from Wall street.

Second Martin—You're right. First thing he did was to grab one of our mountains, stick a fancy sign on it and offered us ten per cent, in paper, of all the gold we dug out for him.

THE Small Boy. He looks by food Emotions stirred. He'll watch pa carve That turkey-bird.

Just to Make Sure. "How shall I express my sentiments toward you?" said the young man, tenderly. "On paper, please," said the girl. "Then there can be no chance of your wriggling out of it."—THE BITE.
